ABSTRACT

A lasted footwear for enclosing a human foot having a heel, an ankle and medial and lateral sides. The footwear comprises an outer shell for receiving the heel, the ankle, and the medial and lateral sides of the foot. The outer shell comprises a layer of thermoformed foam comprising first and second opposite surfaces, one of the first and second opposite surfaces being heat-treated.